Red Sox Series Trophy is Safe at “Home”

Dorchester, MA — Complete with police escort, the Boston Red Sox recently brought their curse-reversed World Series trophy to eager fans at The Boston Home (TBH) in Dorchester. Residents lined up in the home-team colors, with staff and administrators on hand to have their photos taken with the trophy. TBH’s Activities Room was decked out in red and blue with the World Series playing on the flat screen in the background.

Twenty-nine third graders from the Saint Brendan School joined in on the festivities

“The Boston Home was abuzz with excitement for this special day,” said Marva Serotkin, President and CEO of TBH. “Our residents enjoy outings to Fenway Park, but what a thrill it was for our Home and the community for the Sox and their trophy to come here. This would not have been possible without the support of the Red Sox and Colleen Reilly.”

Founded in 1881, The Boston Home is a not-for-profit, specialized care residence for adults with advanced Multiple Sclerosis and other progressive neurological diseases. Celebrating its 125th year, The Boston Home is recognized as “the standard for care of adults with MS” by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society. The Boston Home is the only facility of its kind in New England and one of only a few in the United States. The Boston Home Institute advances standards for care through research and education. The Boston Home Outreach Services provide therapeutic and social programs for outpatients.
